Sun Management Center 2.1.1 Software CD Installation Guide

Refer to the Sun Management Center 2.1.1 Software Release Notes and the following Sun™ Management Center web site for any late-breaking news related to the software installation procedure:

`http://www.sun.com/sunmanagementcenter/`

Installing in a Solaris Environment

1. Place the Sun Management Center 2.1.1 CD into the CD-ROM drive.
2. Open a command window and (if you are not already superuser) become superuser by using the `su` command.

3. If you are running the Sun Management Center server for the first time, edit the `/etc/nsswitch.conf` file. Be sure the `groups` entry has `files` as the first token.

groups:files nis

4. Change to the CD-ROM directory.

- If you are using the Volume Manager (`vold`), type:

```
cd /cdrom/cdrom0
```

- If the CD-ROM drive is not already mounted, mount the drive by typing:

```
mkdir /cdrom/cdrom0
mount -o ro -F hsfs /dev/dsk/cXtYdZs0 /cdrom/cdrom0
cd /cdrom/cdrom0

Note – Read the `INSTALL.README` file before attempting to launch the installation script.

---

5. Launch the Sun Management Center installation script.

- If you are installing the Sun Management Center Production Environment, type the following command:

./inst-es

- If you are installing the Sun Management Center Developer Environment (and you already have a valid license), type the following command:

./instds

6. Answer the interactive list of questions that guides you through the installation procedure.

If you have Sun Enterprise SyMON™ 2.x component layers already installed on your system, the install script allows you to uninstall the previously installed packages. You can either:

- Uninstall immediately and proceed with a fresh installation, or
- Quit the current session and uninstall the necessary packages automatically by using the `es-uninst` command, and then proceed with the installation.

If you have Sun Management Center 2.1 component layers already installed on your system, the install script prompts you to manually uninstall the previously installed packages.

Refer to the Sun Management Center 2.1 Software User's Guide for details on uninstalling the software.

Caution – Be aware that when you answer `y` to the uninstall prompt, your current packages will be uninstalled. However, the administrative domain information, custom alarm settings, and other defined parameters are retained in the `/var/opt/SUNWsymon` directory and may be used by the new installation.

Sun Management Center software can be installed in any location on your system where the minimum required disk space is available. The default location for package installation is `/opt`.

Read the section "Sun Management Center Online Help" in the Sun Management Center 2.1 Software User's Guide before installing the online help.

The installation process installs the Sun Management Center packages (including any applicable hardware add-on component packages) for your system. In some cases, user confirmation is required prior to installing an add-on component. Refer to the supplement for your hardware (in the `/Docs` directory on the CD) for more information.

The `inst-es` script enables you to set up your Sun Management Center component layers. A set of questions guides you through the setup procedures.

Installing in a Microsoft Windows Environment

Refer to the `windows_install_readme.txt` file in the `cdrom0` directory for instructions on installing the console layer in a Microsoft Windows environment.
