1.   Purpose

This Practice describes the COMMON LANGUAGE standard codes for the representation of company addresses for the distribution of Design Layout Reports (DLRs).

2.   Scope

This Practice is applicable to circuit administration, provisioning, design, engineering, and other personnel having responsibility for designing, planning, and/or servicing telephone equipment.

3. Reason For Issue

This Practice is issued to update the lists of DRCs maintained by each Region.

4. General

Questions concerning this document should be directed through the appropriate Bellcore customer COMMON LANGUAGE code contact to the General Code Chairperson, Language Standards Department, Bellcore.

The Bellcore Language Standards Department provides the technical expertise to maintain the General Code Set. The COMMON LANGUAGE Technical Advisory Group contributes to this process in accordance with the procedures outlined in BR 751-100-102, COMMON LANGUAGE® Abbreviation and Code Request Procedures.

In summary, a company requiring a DRC should submit a request to its regional COMMON LANGUAGE code coordinator. The request must contain the following information:

- The name of the company and the postal address of the location to which the DLR will be sent, including the office number or floor location of the receiving device.

- The Dataphone® number of the receiving device i.e., fax, printer, node of NDM (Network Data Mover).

- The contact number of the responsible individual.

The regional coordinator will then complete an LS2 form and route the request to the Bellcore maintenance agent for processing. The maintenance agent will create a code for the routing location, complete an LS3 form describing the new code, and send the LS3 to all regional coordinators. Copies of the LS2 and LS3 forms are shown in Figure 1 and Figure 2.

The standard business name for this code set is Design Routing Code. It is often referred to as the DRC.

5. Design Routing Codes (DRCs)

The DRC represents the address to physically deliver the DLR to the design contact address. Address data is maintained in The Table System (TTS), a database in the TIRKS® system. The DLRs are usually sent directly to a company-designated printer, computer, NDM, or other electronic device. Occasionally, they are sent through the Postal System. Most of the entries in the tables contain 800 numbers for device dialing.

The DRC contains 3 alpha/numeric characters. Further information concerning DRCs can be obtained by referring to BR 471-050-001, Access Service Ordering Guidelines.

Table A contains the DRCs, associated addresses, and the device Dataphone numbers according to the DRC. Table B contains the DRCs sorted by customer, and Table C lists DRCs sorted by Dataphone number.

The Interexchange Access Customer (IAC) code is included in the tables for cross reference to BR 751-100-115, COMMON LANGUAGE® Interexchange Access Customer (IAC) Codes. This code is used in the CCNA (Customer Carrier Name Abbreviation) field of the ASR (Access Service Request). There is no conflict with the DRC and IAC being identical, nor is there any requirement that they be identical.
