

ASUS PadFone X Station Docking Connector Replacement

You will be removing the docking connector. Tools you will need include a Phillips head screwdriver and a soldering kit.

Written By: Daniel

This document was generated on 2019-09-23 02:33:04 PM (MST).

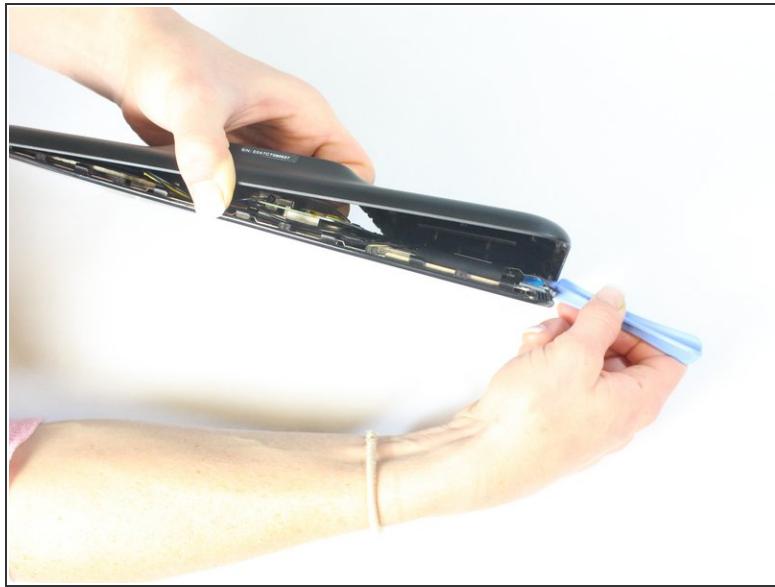

INTRODUCTION

You will be looking for water damage on the USB connector and replacing the 1413 USB/ANT docking connector.

TOOLS:

- Phillips #00 Screwdriver (1)
- Soldering Workstation (1)
- iFixit Opening Tools (1)

Step 1 — Back Cover

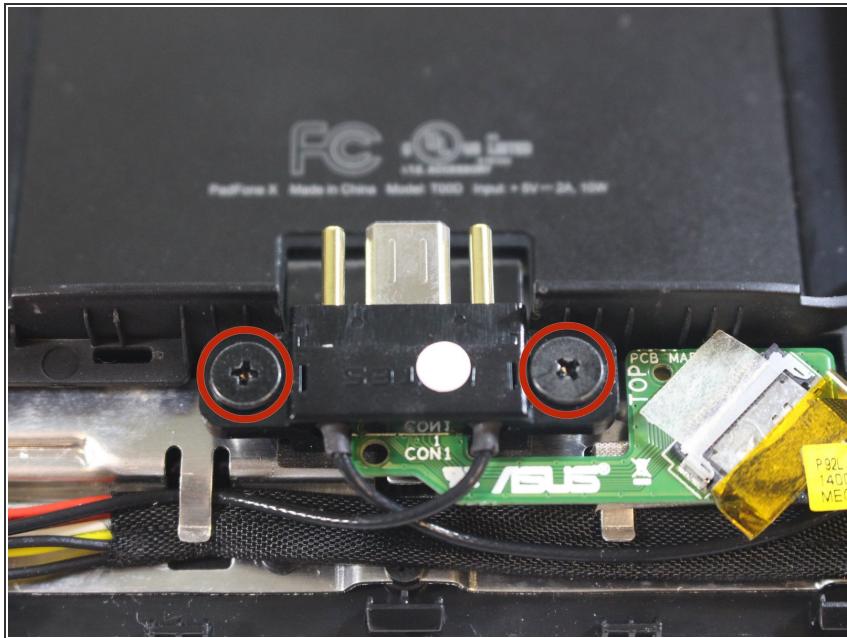

- Using the plastic opening tools, insert it into the edge and pry open.
- Use hands to help pull the back off from the front if needed.

Step 2 — USB connector

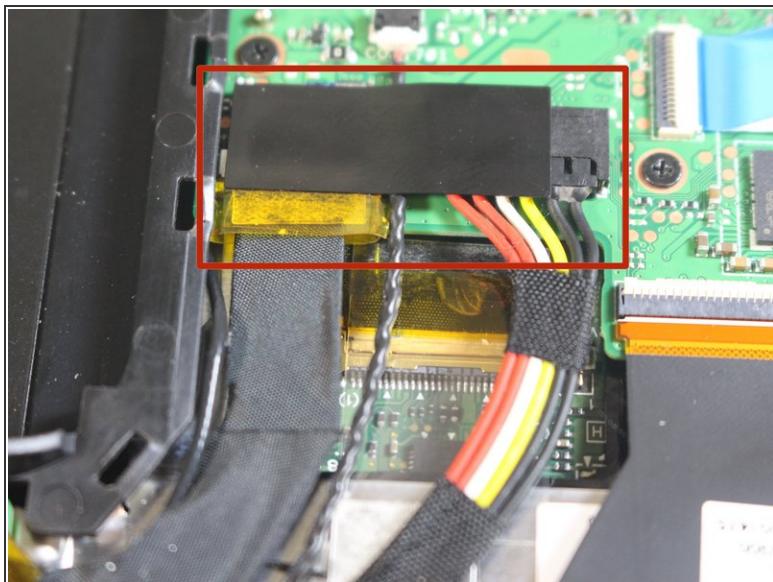

- Locate the CON101
- The white sticker indicates water exposure. White=none, Red=Exposure

Step 3 — Remove two Phillips screws

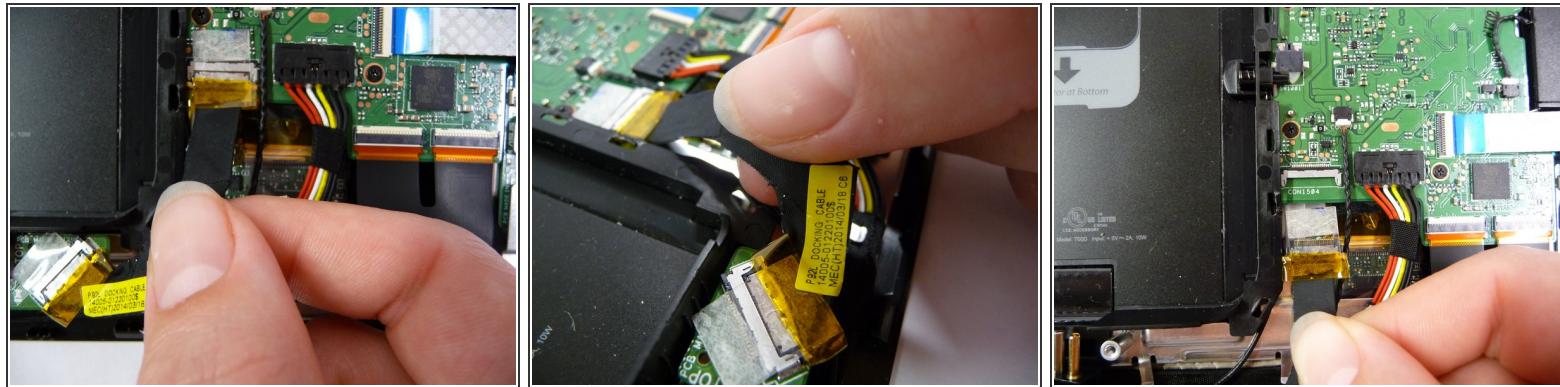

- Remove two Phillips screws

Step 4 — Locate P92L on CON1504

- Locate P92L on CON1504
- Gently peel back and remove plastic tape

Step 5 — Removal of P92L

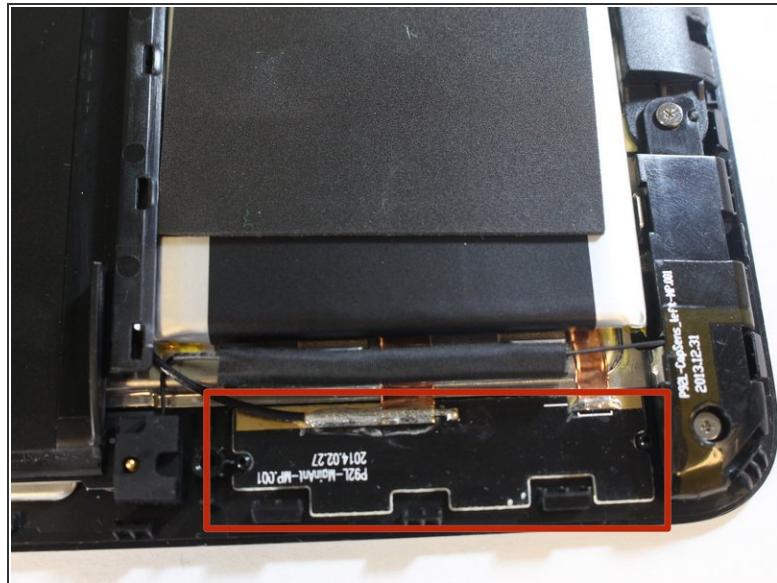

- Gently Pull P92L With Fingers From CON1504

Step 6 — Identification of Antenna Wires

- These are the antenna wires.
- Trace these wires to locate the two antennas.

Step 7 — Desolder the two antenna wires

- Locate the two antennas
- Desolder the two antenna wires

To reassemble your device, follow these instructions in reverse order.