

Replacing a Zipper Pull Tab on your Patagonia Jacket

Replace a zipper pull tab.

Written By: Brittany McCrigler

INTRODUCTION

[video: <https://vimeo.com/57614686>]

Make it easier to zip up your favorite jacket by replacing a missing zipper pull tab. It only takes a few minutes and afterward you'll be able to grip your zipper pull with mittens or gloves.

For replacement parts or further assistance, contact Patagonia Customer Service.

Step 1 — Zipper Pull Tab

- Get your new zipper pull and position it with the pull-tab down.
- Lift up the zipper, as if you were pulling the zipper closed.

Step 2

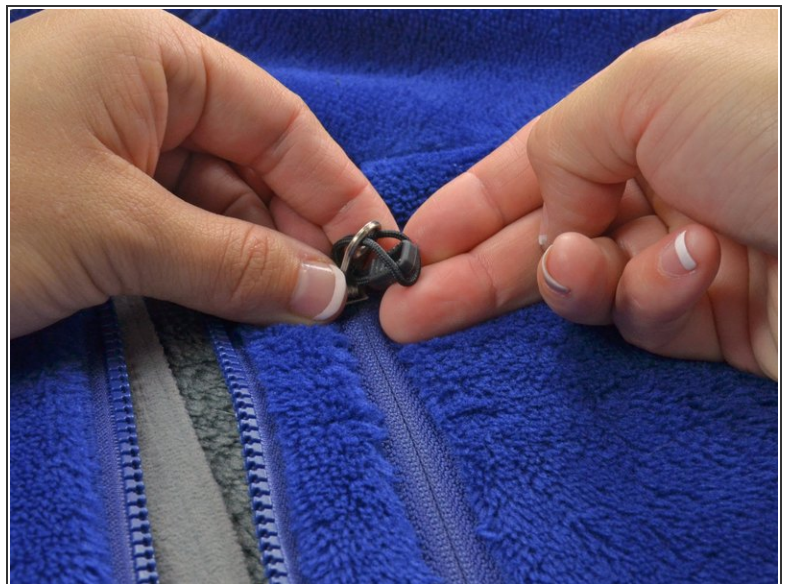

- Insert the zipper pull into the smaller hole in the zipper. This is the top hole when the zipper is hanging normally.
- Pull the zipper pull through the smaller hole.

Step 3

- Rest the zipper back in its normal, hanging position.
- Take top end of the zipper pull and insert it into the bigger, lower hole in the zipper.

Step 4

- Pull the top of the zipper pull through the hole to create a loop on the backside of the zipper.
- Bring the zipper pull-tab through the loop.

Step 5

- Pull the zipper pull-tab snug.
- The zipper pull should now be inserted and lay flat.