

Samsung Galaxy S10e Screen Replacement

Replace the Screen of your Samsung Galaxy S10e yourself

INTRODUCTION

With this detailed step-by-step guide, you can easily replace your Galaxy S10e display at home.

A replacement is necessary when the glass is shattered, the touchscreen does not respond to touch anymore, or the display remains black or flickers. During this repair, we replace the entire display unit including the frame, not just the broken screen. You may have to take some small parts from the old display unit, depending on how the new spare part is equipped.

The repair is a bit difficult as the Galaxy S10e has to be opened via the glass backcover. Removing the back cover is a somewhat more difficult procedure, so plan enough time for it.
